Lincoln, Nebraska

On Wednesday, August 5, Nebraska Rep. Jeff Fortenberry will host a field hearing of the House Agriculture Committee’s subcommittee on nutrition. The hearing participants will explore the cost savings and best practices of good nutrition, including eating fresh, locally raised foods, and prevention and wellness initiatives.

Marsha Lommel, President and CEO of Madonna, is one of the featured witnesses providing testimony at the hearing. Others include regional and national business and health care executives, as well as research scientists.

Rep. Joe Baca, D-Calif., chairman of the subcommittee, and ranking member Fortenberry will lead the proceedings at 10 a.m.

Madonna ProActive is pleased to serve as the host site for this important hearing and represent a national model for medically based health and wellness. The event is open to the public and facility tours will be available following the hearing.
